

Activity - Drama & freeze frames

Your teacher will split the class into four groups.

What did they eat?	Where did they live?	Who did they live with?	How did they keep warm?
---------------------------	-----------------------------	--------------------------------	--------------------------------

In your group, you need to think of three small movements (or freeze frames) to act out, showing each part of the Stone Age:

Palaeolithic	Mesolithic	Neolithic
---------------------	-------------------	------------------

For example, if you are in the 'What food did they eat?' group you will do three actions to show what people ate in the Palaeolithic and then the Mesolithic and then the Neolithic.

The rest of the class will watch and try to guess what you are doing and if this shows a change or something staying the same (continuity).

Your teacher can help with suggestions if you get stuck.
