Activity

© Public Domain collection at The Met

Pottery detective notes

Exhibit A

Clues:

It is a bottle.

It is from Peru, made by the Paracas people.

It was made around the 3rd–2nd century BCE (over 2,000 years ago).

My sketch:

I notice…

I think it was used for…

It tells us that people…

Activity

© Public Domain collection at The Met

Exhibit B

Clues:

It is a vessel.

It is from Guatemala or Mexico, made by the Maya people.

It was made around 600–800 CE (over 1,200 years ago).

My sketch:

I notice…

I think it was used for…

It tells us that people…

Activity

© Public Domain collection at The Met

Exhibit C

Clues:

It is a flower vase.

It is from Holland (the Netherlands), made in the city of Delft.

It was made around 1695–1705 CE (over 300 years ago).

My sketch:

I notice…

I think it was used for…

It tells us that people…

Activity

© Public Domain collection at The Met

Exhibit D

Clues:

It is an oil flask.

It is from ancient Greece.

It was made around 550–530 BCE (over 2,500 years ago).

My sketch:

I notice…

I think it was used for…

It tells us that people…

Activity

© Public Domain collection at The Met

Exhibit E

Clues:

It is a canopic jar.

It is from Egypt.

It was made around 664–525 BCE (over 2,500 years ago).

My sketch:

I notice…

I think it was used for…

It tells us that people…